OBITUARY

Ozarius Edward Rhymes, affectionately known as “Puncho” was born Easter Sunday, April 22, 1973, to O.Z. Rhymes Jr, and Brenda “Fletcher” Rhymes in Valdosta, Georgia. He was a happy healthy baby until an illness at the age of 9 months left him with a permanent disability.

Doctors advised his parents that there was a possibility that he would never walk, or be able to function without maximum assistance, but his strong will and determination proved this to be wrong.

At the age of 4, Puncho and his younger brother Cameron made their way to Jackson, Mississippi with their father. Puncho attended Jackson Public Schools until the age of 17. He loved watching his family cook, watching cooking shows, watching The Beverly Hillbillies, & most of all watching Sanford and Son.

Puncho gave his life to Christ at New Salem M.B. Church under the direction of Pastor Lonnie O’Quinn.

On Tuesday, December 3, 2024, the Good Lord decided that Puncho’s earthly duties were done. He grabbed him by the hand and guided him to Glory.

He leaves to cherish his memories: His Loving Father: O.Z. Rhymes, Jr., (Jackson, MS) Sisters: Zianna Rhymes (Jackson, MS), and Aisha Rhymes (Gainesville Fl), Brothers: Cameron (Angela) Rhymes (Folkston, GA), Johnny (Kim) Collins (Hazlehurst, MS), A special cousin Shirley Jenkins (Hazlehurst, MS), Aunt Rosie Paige (Jackson, MS), and Uncle John Rhymes (Hazlehurst, MS). Plus a host of nephews, cousins, and family friends.

RECESSIONAL

We Only Wanted You

*They say memories are golden, well Maybe that is True
We never wanted Memories; we only wanted you.
A million time we needed you, a million times we cried
If Love alone could have saved you, you never would have died.
In life we loved you dearly, in death we love you still
In our hearts you hold a place, no one could ever fill.
If tears could build a stairway, and heartache make a lane
We walk the path to heaven, to bring you back again.
Our family chain is broken, and nothing seems the same
But as spirit calls us one by one, the chain will link again.*
